Ms. Burke presented:

Definition of a Task Force

Temporary group of people formed:

To carry out a specific mission or project

OR...

To solve a problem that requires a multi-disciplinary approach.

History of and Details about the Middle School Model
History of the Middle School Movement

- Middle School Model Founder: Professor William Alexander, George Peabody College

- 1963: Calls for a “a new school in the middle” to replace the “junior” version of high schools that was the norm.

- Alexander described the junior high model as merely a “junior” version of high school.

- Alexander insisted that the early adolescent requires greater attention to:
  - social and emotional development
  - smaller learning communities
  - more engaging and hands on learning
  - supportive environment
  - rich after-school programming
  - the developmental stages taking place during the early adolescence.

Where Does The Middle School Model Fit Today?

Students today are facing an increase in ....

- Standardized testing.
- Meeting academic standards that require a greater depth of skill and knowledge.
- Economic pressures.
- More peer pressure in the advent of social media.

- Tasked with creating an environment with resources to support the needs and aspirations of developing adolescents at the middle level for grades 6-7-8.
KEY ASPECTS OF A MODEL MIDDLE SCHOOL
Middle Level Curriculum Goals

- Provide a comfortable transition between elementary and high school.
- Teach to the individual student.
- Support the social and emotional development of young adolescents.
- Provide varied instructional strategies and exploratory programs.
- Promote enrichment and encourage self-expression.
- Integrate technology across the school.
- Create a positive school climate and a sense of community within this middle level.
- Create an environment that connects the school and the community.
- Maintain appropriate academic rigor and high behavioral expectations.
Critical Components of a High Functioning Middle School

1. Interdisciplinary Teams
2. Collaboration
3. Environment
4. Scheduling
5. Advisory Periods
6. Academic Support
7. Instructional Practices
8. Professional Development
The Exemplary Middle School

The National Middle School Association (www.nmsa.org)

- Purpose of middle school is to center on the intellectual, social, emotional, moral, and physical developmental needs of young adolescents
- Exemplary middle level programs offer appropriate programs, policies, and practices that foster the development of these tasks in positive ways.

The NMSA identifies five key components for the exemplary middle school curriculum:

1. Interdisciplinary teaming
2. Advisory programs
3. Varied instruction
4. Exploratory programs
5. Transition programs
